

ABSTRACT

5 An encoder-decoder is disclosed for embedding digital rights meta-data onto digital media, such as images, documents and sound. The encoder-decoder uses a cryptographic key to control encoding and decoding. For example, in encoding, the cryptographic key controls a cryptographic embedding of a meta-data onto the media so that the message cannot be extracted from the media, unless one has a private key.

10